Vice Foreign Commissar S. A. Lozovsky, chief Moscow spokesman, declared a battle of "incredible ferocity" is raging at the approach to Leningrad and described the German losses as "tremendous."

"The struggle has assumed such proportions," he said, "and is of such a character that the Germans cannot continue it for long."

Huge air battles accompanied the great ground struggle before Leningrad and it was revealed that British fighting planes—Spitfires and

Bright red roses, blooming on the bushes on the Court House grounds near the Registration building, make a pretty sight looking from East Washington and County Line streets.

Nightly temperatures are gradually creeping downward, the official mark last night being 39 degrees, just a warning that a real frost will visit us some of these nights and kill off the more tender blooms.

Watching a policeman directing the heavy automobile traffic on East Washington street after the football game, bystanders remarked that the officer would be in less danger if he wore a white cap and some white on his uniform.

Folks that have gardens were glad to note this morning that there had been no frost last night, despite the predictions of some of the "weather men." The dew was quite heavy on the grass this morning.

Germany Continues Sub War Says Berlin

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Sept. 13.—President Roosevelt's "shoot first" order once more came in concrete form today, Germany said the two-day toll of British shipping on the high seas has mounted to 37 freighters and warships.

Washington at the same time ordered the United States navy to redouble its efforts to clear the waters surrounding Greenland and Iceland of Axis submarines.

Nazis Claim 10 More British Ships Sunk

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—Sinking of ten more British freighters and warships by the German navy and Luftwaffe was announced today in a further report to President Roosevelt's speech, as the government-controlled Nazi press taunted him for not declaring outright war against the Reich.

Nazi U-boats, continuing their relentless attacks on a large convoy in the North Atlantic, sank four more British merchantmen totalling 19,000 tons, and three escort vessels, in addition to the wrecking of three yesterday.

Claim Toll Of 31
That brings the German-claimed toll from the convoy, originally consisting of 40 vessels, to 31 ships.

Destruction of three more ships was credited to the Nazi air force, in addition to the wrecking of three yesterday.

Thus the two-day "bag of the U-boats and Nazi airplanes was recorded in Berlin as 37 ships.

The Luftwaffe's latest victories included three transports of 12,000, 8,000, and 5,000 tons damaged in an attack on a convoy off east Yarmouth. Their loss must be reckoned with," the Germans said.

Announcements of new victories at sea were accompanied by fresh attacks on Mr. Roosevelt's "shoot on sight" radio address.

Those failing to answer the questionnaires will be considered pro-British and will lose their pulpits, the dispatches said.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Legislative problems affecting national defense, aid to Britain, agriculture and the cost of living today stalked house members heading back to the capital following abrupt termination of their month's recess.

Instead of drifting back at their leisure sometime next week as anticipated, representatives are scheduled to plunge Monday into a maze of important and controversial congressional matters, including the nearly completed $3,550,000,000 tax bill and a request for an estimated $5,000,000,000 additional for lease-lend aid to embattled democracies.

While the House recesses officially Monday, original plans called for minor, controversial business until Sept. 22. At the request of House Speaker Rayburn (D) Tex., however, all members were urged to be on hand a week earlier to speed passage of the record revenue measure.

Administration leaders hoped to complete congressional action on

President On Week-End Cruise

Four Highest Ranking Chieftains Accompany Roosevelt On Trip

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Combining a week-end cruise on Chesapeake Bay with the arduous problems of this nation's defense effort, President Roosevelt left Washington today accompanied by four of his highest ranking defense chiefs.

The White House announced those with the President were William S. Knudsen, OPM chief, Leon Henderson, price administrator, Floyd Odlum, in charge of the newly created division of smaller industries, and Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator.

It was evident that Mr. Roosevelt intended to take up the question of gearing production to the increased tempo of the all-out defense drive.

The Presidential party left the White House by motor for Annapolis, where they boarded the yacht Potomac for a leisurely cruise down the Chesapeake, the schedule calling for them to dock at the Washington navy yard some time Sunday.

This was the first opportunity that Mr. Roosevelt has had to confer with the OPM heads in more than 10 days.

Fourth U. S.-Owned Ship Sunk

The steamship Montana, formerly the Danish ship Paula, pictured above in front, torpedoed off Iceland, is the fourth American-owned merchant ship to be sunk by belligerent action since mid-spring of this year. The U. S. S. Greer, an American destroyer, was attacked off Iceland September 4, but both torpedoes aimed at her by a submarine missed. Central Press map above shows where and when the five ships were attacked.

Urges Removal Of Ickes And Davies

Congressman Martin Says
Public Has Lost Confidence In Oil Coordinators

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Removal of Secretary of Interior Ickes as oil coordinator and Ralph K. Davies as deputy on the grounds that they have lost the confidence of the people was urged today by Rep. Joseph Martin, Mass., Republican house leader.

Declaring that demoralization of automobile traffic caused by Ickes and Davies had resulted in huge monetary losses and inconvenience to the public, Martin labelled both Ickes and Davies as inefficient.

"Unquestionably the report of the senate investigating committee headed by Sen. Maloney (D) Conn., is of such character that Ickes and Davies should be removed," said Martin.

Here we have a report by a committee dominated by Democrats and headed by a Democrat who usually has his feet on the ground, declaring that there was no oil shortage and that facilities existed to provide oil and gas.

Notwithstanding that, Ickes and Davies created a hysteria, caused people great inconvenience and disrupted business to such an extent that many people lost money."

He declared the vacation industry of the entire Atlantic coast was seriously injured by inefficient handling of the oil situation.

Martin's attack on Ickes followed a statement by Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., asserting that information given to him indicated that there has been no shortage of oil, gas or transportation in New England.

Success

(International News Service)
SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 13.—The nation's first statewide blackout test was officially declared a big success today, even though Gov. John E. Abert was "kidnaped" by Boy Scouts acting as saboteurs during the exercise.

The blackout, covering all of New Mexico, was made realistic with "invading" bombers, flour sack bombs, homeguard units, and anti-aircraft gun crews, operating imaginary guns. An area of 132,000 square miles, larger than New England, was blacked out in three hours.

Gov. Miles obligingly stepped from the military control room when advised that a group of Boy Scouts wished to see him. The Scouts, assigned to act as saboteurs, forced the governor into a car and sped off with him.

A police car overtook the "kidnapers" and brought the grinning chief executive back to headquarters.

Regional Director R. E. Smith of the civilian defense organization who came here from San Antonio, Tex., to observe the blackout, expressed great satisfaction with its results.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—A high administration official today disclosed that the United States Navy has been ordered to redouble its efforts to "eliminate" Axis submarines lurking in the north Atlantic waters around Greenland and Iceland.

This new order to American warships on the north Atlantic patrol was sent out as a result of the latest incident in American "defensive" waters—the torpedoing of the American-owned Panama-registered cargo steamer Montana.

Issuance of the order followed a White House conference between President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Navy Knox at which the torpedoing of the Montana off Greenland on Thursday afternoon was discussed.

Charles Chaplin Called To Testify

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Charles Chaplin, famous movie comedian, today was subpoenaed to testify before the Senate Interstate Commerce Subcommittee which is considering resolutions for investigation of motion picture propaganda.

William R. Wilkerson, publisher of the Hollywood Reporter, and Anatole Litvak, director for Warner Brothers, likewise were subpoenaed to appear before the committee Oct. 6.

Chaplin and Litvak, it was said, will be questioned on charges that movies are being produced filled with propaganda which is designed to "soften" the people for full participation in the European war.

Chaplin produced "The Great Dictator," which has been attacked by Sen. Nye (R) N. D. and Sen. Clark (D) Mo., as a propaganda picture. Litvak directed "Confessions of a Nazi Spy."

Wilkerson's name also has figured in the hearing, because of his attacks upon authors of the investigation resolution.

Spokesman For Japan Warns U. S.

Declares Japan Ready To Fight

Will Batle If Current Wash- ington-Tokyo Negotia- tions Fail

DECLARES JAPAN MUST HAVE OIL

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
TOKYO, Sept. 13.—With the official approval of the Japanese government, a well-known political spokesman warned the United States today that Japan will "fight to the last man" if the current Washington-Tokyo negotiations prove futile.

The warning was issued by Seigo Nakano, leader of Japan's only revived political party and a former newspaper editor.

Addressing thousands of Japanese at a mass meeting, Nakano replied to the warnings to Japan issued by President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Predicts War
He frankly predicted war between the United States and Japan and discounted the chances of an American-British-Japanese settlement in the Pacific.

"The Japanese," he said, "are prepared to fight to the last man if the negotiations fail."

Authorities disclosed Nakano's address had received official approval prior to its delivery.

In it he warned sharply against prolongation of the current Washington negotiations, lest Japan lose her chance to advance to the south.

"Oil is blood," he declared, "and a transfusion is urgently needed by Japan."

"The time may come when this blood no longer is available and our planes are grounded."

TERRIFIC BATTLE IS BEING WAGED FOR LENINGRAD

Hurricanes—piloted by Russian air- men—are taking a major role in the combat.

Battle For Kronstadt
(EDITOR'S NOTE: The London Daily Mail reported from Stockholm that the battle for the great Soviet naval base at Kronstadt has begun in earnest.)

This account said artillery duels are in progress near Kronstadt and that German planes have mined the waters nearby. Russian minesweepers nightly clear channels through the mine fields for Soviet warships which persistently harass the German battalions pushing down the Finnish coast, the dispatch said.

The Soviet high command's mid- night communique reported con- tinued fighting along the entire front but admitted that Russian forces had evacuated Chernikov on the Desna River, 80 miles northeast of Kiev and 70 miles southeast of Gomel.

On Sept. 10, this war bulletin ad- ded, 53 German planes were destroyed while Russian losses amounted to 32 machines.

Repeated Attacks
Extent of the aerial fighting over Leningrad and its environs was il- lustrated by a special war commu- nique issued from the Red army in- formation headquarters.

This communique said anti-aircraft batteries and fighting planes drove off German raiders who re- peatedly attempted to attack Len- ingrad on Thursday.

About 11 o'clock Thursday night, it said, "isolated" German planes broke through the defenses and dropped incendiaries and high ex- plosives which caused fires in dwel- ling houses.

Eleven of the raiders were said to have been shot down.

On the previous day, it was an- nounced, Soviet armed cutters sank several German cutters and two barges loaded with Nazi infantrymen in the Gulf of Finland.

"Virtual Tornado"

Berlin, Sept. 13.—A "virtual tor- na- do" of Stuka bombs blanketed Leningrad's defenses all day yester- day, a soldier-correspondent with the Luftwaffe reported today.

Explosions were so numerous, he wrote, that the terrain looked like "a spreading prairie fire" from above.

The great air raid on Leningrad was accompanied by new frontal at- tacks on land, and press reports said the last outer defenses of Leningrad now are being assaulted.

Chancellor Hitler's field GHQ an- nounced merely that "operations on the east front are proceeding suc- cessfully."

Minor Nazi Raids
While the British assaults were in progress, minor German raids were carried out against Britain. An air ministry communique said:

"A small number of enemy planes flew over last night. A few bombs were dropped and casualties were caused and houses damaged in northeast England. Two raiders were destroyed."

One short burst of anti-aircraft fire was heard in London but no air raid alarm was sounded. It was believed a lone German reconnais- sance plane tried to penetrate the capital's defenses.

(Editor's note: the official Rome radio reported in a broadcast heard by NBC that R. A. F. bombers dropped bombs on the French Riviera the Savoy. There was no verifica- tion of this claim from any other source.)

climbing into emptied ice cream cans, and rolling down the pave- ments, which from all appearances seemed to be "lotsa fun" on a down- town street.

City policemen used the new port- able traffic signal lights at various intersections surrounding Taggart stadium following last night's game. The contrivances do a good job of regulating traffic, Pa. News believes.

September 12 may have been the Fourth of July for a lot of folks at Taggart stadium fireworks were discharged spasmodically dur- ing the game. The "shooters" were discharged around the downtown sector too, following the game.

Something for the odd sights de- partment—A truck driver unloading several loads of coal at a Mercer street building, late last night.

Driving through wooded sections it is interesting to watch the leaves on the trees, taking a slight autumnal turn in color. The green leaves on the trees along Pennsylvania avenue extension, present a pretty picture, as they seemingly have been dipped in tints of golden yellows, burnt oranges, and off shades of red, reminding us, that "Old Man Win- ter" is peeping around the corner and soon the snow flakes will be flying, as the trees shed their summer cloaks entirely.

Jay-walking is done repeatedly in the busy downtown sections, and the pedestrians are only endang- ering themselves, by not thinking. One lady shortly after the noon hour, literally caused a traffic tie- up, in disobeying the signals, and three cars came to "a point" of stopping, all nosing toward one an- other—due to a thoughtless woman.

Pa. News notes that some resur- facing in the shape of patching is being done on the public square by the highway forces. The paving was in need of some improving. It will be a satisfaction to New Cas- tle citizens when the street car tracks are removed and the streets are given a permanent resurfac- ing that will give the main travel- ling streets of the city a much more appealing condition. At the pres- ent time, Highland avenue, East Washington street, and other routes are badly in need of attention, but nothing will probably be done un- til the change from street cars to busses is made.

Ross, working day and night in the search to find Curtis, later in- spected his wharf. He made a mis- step, perhaps from fatigue, and him- self was drowned.

Say Coal Firms Can't Accept Price Ceiling On Coal

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—The eight major hard coal companies operating in Pennsylvania notified Federal Price Administrator Leon Henderson that "obligations im- posed upon them" make it impos- sible for the firms to accept "an arbitrary price ceiling."

"It's up to Mr. Henderson now," said a spokesman for the Philadel- phia and Reading Coal and Iron Co., one of the eight concerns pro- ducing approximately 60 per cent of the nation's anthracite.

The mining companies' action followed a ruling by Henderson can- celling a 15-cents-a-ton increase which had been scheduled to go in- to effect Monday. In Washington, Henderson's office said the order, which set the anthracite price at the August 15 level, was made be- cause the producing companies failed to supply evidence proving the need for the increase.

"Effective September 12, maxi- mum prices of anthracite coal are being established at existing cir- cular prices pending further inves- tigation of the industry's justifica- tion for price increases," read a wire from Henderson to the coal producers.

Waiter Gordon Merritt, of New York, counsel for the anthracite companies, said the price increases were first were announced last June and that competition from other fuels "have in effect" fixed ceiling prices for anthracite.

Merritt, in a statement released here and in New York, denied an implication that Henderson's office had not been supplied data justifying the price increase. The at- torney also said that contrary to con- ditions in other countries, defense demands and civilian shortage have caused no radical rise in hard coal prices.

Only 17 Counties In Entire State Without Polio

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Only 17 of the state's 67 counties were un- touched today by the infantile paralysis as State Health Depart- ment officials extended restrictions against the dread disease to include Erie county.

The 27th fatality from the disease was reported at Monongahela, Alle- gheny county, yesterday when 11-month-old Almada Davenport died. Ten new cases listed yesterday failed to surprise health officials who emphasized that they had seen little significance in a decline of cases several days ago.

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of health conservation, said he an- ticipated more than 65 cases at the end of the week. He reiterated that there was little chance for a marked drop in new cases until the end of the month. Earlier Dr. Camp- bell predicted polio cases would total approximately 600 by the end of September.

NAVY ORDERED TO INTENSIFY HUNT FOR SUBS

in official quarters in Washington as a direct challenge to the Ameri- can government's decision to defend those two north Atlantic island out- posts, and to keep the sea lanes to them clear of what President Roose- velt has branded as the "rattlesnakes of the Atlantic."

Any Axis submarine now found in those waters is likely to be sunk without warning by the American warships on patrol duty.

Before President's Warning
The attack on the Montana oc- curred about 12 hours before Presi- dent Roosevelt's historic declaration of policy that Axis submarines entering American defensive waters from now on will do so "at their own peril."

Official Washington is waiting to see whether the German government will order its submarines and sur- face raiders to withdraw from those waters as a result of the president's warning, or whether Germany will decide to risk outright naval warfare with the United States.

The attack on the Montana oc- curred approximately 40 miles north by north west of the spot where a sister ship, the S. S. Sessa, was sunk by torpedo and shellfire on August 17th.

Details concerning the torpedoing of the Montana, formerly the Danish liner Paula, still are meagre.

Crew Ties To Boats
The first report received by the state department merely said the ship had been observed by a British aircraft to have been torpedoed at 1:45 p. m. Greenwich central time; about 8:45 a. m. EST. The crew was seen taking to boats.

No further details have been made public, but it is assumed that the crew, if their lifeboats were able to remain afloat, must have been pick- ed up by now by one of the British or American patrol ships that doubt- less rushed to the scene following word of the attack.

First word of the sinking of the Montana was received by President Roosevelt while he was presiding over a cabinet meeting at the White House. The president read the mes- sage to the cabinet.

Dewey Endorses Mayor LaGuardia

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—In a surprise move, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today endorsed Mayor F. H. La Guardia for the Re- publican mayoralty nomination at Tuesday's primary election.

Dewey prominently mentioned the G. O. P. presidential nomina- tion in a statement telephoned from Rochester and issued by his secretary said:

"The Republican party is the in- strument of good government and sturdy support of the cause of the people."

"It has always made every sacri- fice to that end, regardless of per- sonalities or personal considera- tions."

"It would be most unfortunate if New York City should be turned back to machine government."

Mayor La Guardia is the only Fusion candidate for mayor in the Republican primaries.

"I shall vote for the mayor on Tuesday, and I hope he will have the support of the members of the Republican party."

Dewey's announcement was a se- vere blow to John R. Davies, in- surgent Queens Republican who on Thursday night was permitted by the court of appeals to remain on the primary ballot to oppose the mayor for the Republican mayoralty nomination.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The national mediation board today set Tuesday as a date for the hearing in the A. F. L. jurisdictional strike which is holding up completion of a Curtiss-Wright propeller plant at Beaver, Pa.

The dispute was certified to the mediation board by the labor de- partment. The mediation board sent telegrams to the Duquesne Light Co., of Pittsburgh, the Independent Employers association of the Du- quesne company, and to the A. F. L. Building and Construction Trades council asking them to send repre- sentatives to the meeting.

The light company, it was said, planned to use members of the independent union for the in- stallation work. As a result, it was said, members of the A. F. L. HITLER TERRORISM DEFIED IN NORWAY

IF ANY further proof were needed that Norway is seething with resentment against its Nazi overlords it is the state of "civilian emergency," in effect military rule, which the German occupying authority has imposed upon Oslo and its surrounding region.

Under the new decree Norwegians in the Oslo district are forbidden to appear on the streets between the hours 8 p. m. and 5 a. m. All communications must close at 7:30 p. m. Theatres and movies are shut. Dancing is prohibited. There are punishments for gatherings in restaurants or formation of groups in streets or public squares.

Why do the Nazis burden the Oslo people with these regulations, which later may be extended to cover all Norway? Because the Norwegian people, alert to the fierce resistance being made by the Russians and to the swelling flood of American-made weapons to the British, are becoming dangerously restive under Hitler's iron heel.

Incidentally, the replacement of the head of the Norwegian Federation of Labor with a Quislingist, forcing the Federation into the Nazified corporative State, is a clear demonstration of what happens to labor and labor's rights when Hitler takes over. The glaring example in Norway says the Philadelphia Inquirer, ought to be a warning to American labor not to impede or delay this country's efforts to supply Britain with the tools to smash Hitlerism.

With German armed might now utilized to enforce order in Norway and in France, with German soldiers sitting on the lid in Belgium, Holland and Greece, the vaunted "new order" is shown up for what it is: Brutal domination over the lives, minds and hearts of men who don't want it and will rebel against it even if such rebellion means death—as it already has in France and Norway.

To the courageous people who are defying Hitler terrorism in Norway, in France and in the other captive countries, all honor. When the day of Europe's deliverance dawns they will have done their part to rid the world of a murderous scourge.

CUSHIONING THE SHOCK

In the view of most economists, one unavoidable effect of a war economy is to reduce the living standards of the people. Military needs come first—civilian needs, second. The increased spending power that follows defense expenditures must be largely absorbed by higher taxes, as a means of combating inflation. And higher prices are a certainty.

We are beginning to witness this now, as the new tax bill becomes effective, priorities grow more stringent, and the price indicators steadily go up. For the first time, millions of Americans are beginning to wonder seriously just how well they will be able to live next year and in the years to follow.

No one can answer that question. But this much can be said with certainty: The American industrial system, in all its branches, will do everything it can to keep our living standards at the highest possible level. In the great factories of America, continual progress is being made in turning out better goods, and in finding new ways to reduce costs. And in the retail stores of America similar progress is going on. It is modern retailing which is fighting speculation and profiteering. It is modern retailing which is helping to educate the consumer to use suitable substitutes for goods which are becoming scarce and costly. It is modern retailing which is always striving to further lower the spread between the price the producer receives and the price the consumer pays.

HEAVIER SUMMER READING
As a matter of tradition, those who cater to the interests and needs of Americans during the summer vacation period have proceeded upon the theory that their offerings must be light, even to the point of being frivolous. This conclusion arises from the assumption that the summer is a time for relaxation and that the average American doesn't like to be troubled very much about weighty matters if they can be avoided.

There has appeared in the past just as regularly as June rolled around a heavy output of what has been known as "light summer reading," the kind that merely intrigues without stirring the emotions or taxing the mind. Mystery stories and adventure stories and boy-meets-girl stories come under this general classification.

But this year the American people, judging by the books sold and those most in demand at libraries, have been doing a great deal of serious reading and, presumably, some serious thinking, all with a view to becoming better informed concerning the troubled world in which they live.

Almost everybody has been reading "Berlin Diary," "I Saw England," "You Can't Do Business With Hitler," and other authoritative works dealing with the world revolution, of whose stirrings Americans are becoming more intimately aware. This search for enlightenment may not have contributed to the joyousness of the holiday season but it is nevertheless an indication that Americans are becoming increasingly realistic.

STOCKINGS AND SOCKS

The Bureau of the Census tells us that although 57.6 per cent of all women's stockings were cotton in 1919, women "started to turn thumbs down on cotton hosiery" immediately after the war. By 1929 cotton hosiery production had declined to 14.2 of the total and in 1939 to 9.1. Coincidentally, the use of silk and silk mixtures increased from 39.2 per cent of the total in 1919 to 84 per cent in 1939.

The men of the country will not be seriously affected by any silk shortage. In war prosperity days of 1919, says the bureau, 13.4 per cent of the socks worn by men were made of silk, but this steadily dropped until 1939, when the figure was 5.3. Rayon, on the other hand, steadily increased in popularity with the men until 1939, when it made up 45.3 of the total. Even in 1939, 41.3 per cent of the men's socks worn were made of cotton.

In any case, experts now predict that by the end of this year the hosiery mills will be operating at a normal pace and turning out stockings made of various combinations of nylon, cotton and rayon. This demonstrates, as one commentator aptly phrased it, "how futile is hoarding."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PROBLEMS OF FIRST SCHOOL YEAR

A good many children entered kindergarten or first grade this autumn for the first time. With this new experience come new stimulations and new needs for adjustments. To some of them who have sensitive nervous systems, who are high strung by nature, the strain is well-nigh overwhelming.

A great many of these children will appear restless and nervous. Some will cry more readily and whine; some will acquire stubbornness, some tantrums; some will grow more quarrelsome on the playground; some will smile less and less, be less optimistic, less cooperative. Some, on going to bed, will be too tired to sleep.

New Eating Problems
New eating problems may arise, and appetites grow dull. Some children will show a loss in weight. Many other children will, of course, profit from the new regimen, growing quiet and healthier. The good or ill effects of school will not be limited to the younger children. Those of all ages may show in their general physical and emotional life marked changes with the opening of school.

If we parents are wise we shall be very observing during the first several weeks. In case the changes are noticeably unfavorable, we shall study such changes carefully. In most instances we shall have our physician check up on the child, advising us.

Fatigue And Strain
In the meanwhile we can be pretty sure, especially with the young child, that an emotional irregularity indicates fatigue and nervous strain. He may have been accustomed to an afternoon nap. Maybe he awakens now a little earlier in the morning and goes to bed a little later.

In extreme cases have the child on return from school in the afternoon come into the house and spend half an hour by the clock, in quiet, preferably stretched out, and call him in for fifteen or twenty minutes of relaxation before the evening meal.

All the while reduce unnecessary noise and confusion. Make routine matters simple. Avoid suggestions of anxiety and worry in the presence of the child. If there is a radio, shut off all but soft and quiet music. Let every one speak in soft, mellow tones.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. What should a mother do about the child who cries and screams when she leaves the house?
A. She should go more often and with little or no ceremony, not looking back nor returning for another hug or kiss. Gradually the problem wanes and wholly disappears, in case the mother can manage herself well.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NATIONAL NOT INTERNATIONAL

There have been and will be many words printed by the printing presses of this Nation concerning the President's conference with Churchill somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean. The admirers of the President will look about the Eight Points covering the United States after the present world conflagration is extinguished and they will be praised as was the late President Wilson's famous declaration to "Make the World Safe for Democracy."

The ideas expressed in the Eight Points seem to me to be meaningless, like a lot of words that do not get this Nation or Great Britain anywhere. What the President of the United States should be doing just now is paying strict attention to domestic affairs and clean these "Augean Stables" of the fifth which has accumulated right here. On the contrary, all of the administration forces seem to be devoting their attention to international affairs. They are not paying much attention to domestic matters, except to throw monkey wrenches into the production machinery of various articles, such as automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, etc. They are doing nothing whatsoever to end this constant turmoil occasioned by Labor leaders, who are also throwing monkey wrenches into the production machinery of this country.

Neither the President nor Congress nor any of the officials of the United States seem to have the "guts" to do the things necessary to end the sabotage going on in shipyards, airplane plants, munition plants, and all plants making the things necessary for the use of the Army, the Navy and the Air Forces of this nation. The President wants to be elected again for a fourth term (I think he wants the office for life). Congressmen want to be elected again for another term, no matter how long or how short their term of office as Senators or Representatives in office seem to believe that the only way by which they can be re-elected, is to kow-tow to these officers of organized Labor.

As a matter of fact organized Labor itself—the rank and file of the workmen of this country—are getting sick and tired of being pushed about in and out of plants by these Nazi influenced officers of their Unions.

How long is the Nation going to stand for this sort of thing, for it was just this sort of thing that has ruined France?

"To my chauffeur I leave my cars. He has almost ruined them and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job."

"To my partner I leave the suggestion that he take some clever man in with him at once if he expects to do any business."

Question: "I have been asked to be a chaperon at a fraternity dance taking place in a hotel ballroom. I have accepted and now would like to know just what my duties are."

Answer: With the other chaperones or patronesses, you should form a receiving line and greet guests as they enter and pass by you. The must talk to him, avoid reference to his name and let your first opportunity ask your hostess what it is. So far as Mr. Odd Name was concerned, he should have smilingly told you that you mispronounced his name and should have explained that he was accustomed to that since it is very unusual. Regardless of how irritated we are or how much our feelings are hurt, we must never show our chagrin if we wish to be socially popular, for that is displaying bad taste.

Good Taste

By E. A. Guest

"Recently I had occasion to be introduced to a man with a very odd name. I did not correctly hear it and later when I had to introduce him to someone, I mispronounced it. He seemed irritated. Don't you think he was unreasonable?"—Jim.

Answer: Yes, he was. But you, too, were in the wrong. When you are introduced and do not understand a name, ask that it be repeated. You should, however, train yourself to concentrate so that you will not have to suffer the embarrassment of being unable to call people by their correct names. When introducing someone whose name you have forgotten, say, "I'm sorry but I do not remember your name," or "I didn't correctly understand your name." Never address anyone by a doubtful name. If you must talk to him, avoid reference to his name and let your first opportunity ask your hostess what it is. So far as Mr. Odd Name was concerned, he should have smilingly told you that you mispronounced his name and should have explained that he was accustomed to that since it is very unusual. Questionnaires Distract Industry
Emergency Bureaus Disrupt Leaders
Each Agency Wants Different Dope

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

For heaven's sake, the country's industries generally are imploring the government, be merciful with questionnaires.

From every direction lamentations are pouring into Washington to the effect that plant managements are kept so busy answering the quizzes they receive from Uncle Sam's multiplicity of emergency agencies that they haven't sufficient leisure left to speed up production of the defense supplies the administration is clamoring for.

Why, oh, why, the harassed manufacturers will, can't all the agencies agree on a single set of questions, that can be replied to as a matter of just one job? But no. Each agency wants information of its individual own, and it isn't alike in any two cases.

One list of queries I happened to see the other day was 16 small-type, closely-printed, foolscap-sized pages long.

A staff of experts is required to respond to so voluminous an interrogation. A very big industry is likely to have such a staff, but the smaller ones haven't. Either they must hire extra help, or else some already overworked official must devote days to the task of telling the questionaire-framers what they want to know.

Small Outfits Important

And these smaller concerns are the outfits the government's particularly anxious to enlist in its emergency campaign. All put together they can produce a deal more than the very big ones can produce jointly. It's more convenient to let a contract to a whole lot of small outfits than to let a contract to a few big ones.

After that, it is expected to let out contracts to several of its lesser brethren. Only, the whistles are somewhat disinclined to do it, preferring to keep whatever profits are available for themselves. Thus production's delayed, besides which the comparative peewees may have to shut down, throwing workers out of jobs and creating a bad unemployment situation.

It was to stimulate a diffusion of emergency orders that President Roosevelt recently appointed Floyd Odlum, New York financier and utility magnate, to be head of a new Production Division of the Office of Production Management. However, to be eligible for a sub-contract, the applicant smallest concern must first fill out all regulation questionnaires, and some of em would almost rather shut up shop.

"Why, there are questions in this list," said the Washington-visiting representative of a pretty fair-sized but nevertheless minor New England factory, explaining his dilemma to me a few days ago and showing me his sample interrogation, "that it would cost us $10,000 apiece to find the correct answers to."

The quiz called for the fullest details of his company's development, ownership, financing capacity, obligations employment and everything back to the date of its origin, as little more than a one-

A Preposterous Bill

THE best authorities estimate that the cost of living, already considerably increased in the past year, will advance at least ten per cent more within the next year. Prices of a wide variety of articles have risen and are on the rise. This is the inevitable result of the vast outpouring of Federal funds for defense.

INHERENT in this situation is the grave danger of inflation. This has been pointed out by the President, by the fiscal officers of the Government, by Representatives and Senators, by commentators and critics, by New Dealers, anti-New Dealers and those who occupy neutral ground.

In fact, if there is one thing these days upon which there is in this country complete unity of opinion it is that the threat of inflation exists and that the actuality would be disastrous to us all. There is not a dissenting voice on that proposition. Last Tuesday the facts were pretty baldly but not too baldly presented in a speech by the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau.

AS he pointed out, one of the very created Administration problems is to find means to avert this threatened inflation. Here is one thing these days upon which there is in this country complete unity of opinion it is that the threat of inflation exists and that the actuality would be disastrous to us all. There is not a dissenting voice on that proposition. Last Tuesday the facts were pretty baldly but not too baldly presented in a speech by the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Morgenthau.

Everybody, economist as well as layman, concedes that the essential thing is to prevent runaway prices. Hence, the President, proclaiming these views many weeks ago appointed a Price Controller, and the Price Controller, after many weeks of inexcusable delay, has produced a bill, which is now in a House committee, to give him the necessary

Second U. P. Church Newly Decorated

Members To Return Sunday To Find Auditorium Nicely Re-decorated

Members of the Second United Presbyterian church will return Sunday morning to a newly decorated auditorium.

For the past month workmen have been busy beautifying the place of worship. The walls and ceiling have been painted, the woodwork and pews refinished, and the floor covered with a beautiful wine colored carpet. A new curtain has been placed across the choir loft and new stoles for the choir robes have been made by the choir.

Members of the Willing Workers' class, taught by Mrs. C. D. Parker, have presented to the congregation a new Christian flag.

The work has all been made possible by the generous financial support of the members of the congregation. It is the opinion of all who have seen the auditorium that it has never looked so well as at the present time.

The present structure was erected in 1913 under the pastorate of Rev. S. C. Gamble. With the paying off for this work, which will be within the next few months, the congregation will be debt-free. The work of redecorating has been left largely with the board of trustees, under the leadership of Heber Anderson, and they are to be complimented on the work which has been completed.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock former members and friends of the congregation will join in the opening program. Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of the church, will preach on the theme "Not Ashamed." Special music will be featured by the choir, and a very brief history of the congregation will be given.

In the evening at 7:45 members of the Epworth M. E. church and of the Third U. P. church will join in a union service.

The Great Game Of Politics

power to put a "ceiling over prices." That is the phrase, and practically everybody is in favor of it doing it.

UNDER such circumstances, it would seem incredible that the Administration should evolve a measure, the avowed purpose of which is to keep prices under control, but which actually renders such control impossible. Yet, that is precisely what it has done. The pending bill is a fraud. It will not do what it proposes to do and no informed person thinks it will. It does not disturb in the least any of the "artificial devices" which this Administration has set up in the last eight years to put prices up. But, in addition, it specifically, and in so many words, provides that there shall be no regulation of wages and no regulation of food prices, although no one denies that these are the two greatest factors in all prices and that without regulation of them any effort to put a "ceiling over prices" is ridiculous.

THE BILL is very long, very confused and few people will ever read it. Yet there are in it these definite prohibitions against wage and food price control. No matter what else it contains, clearly these make it utterly ineffectual. In the matter of food prices it goes beyond a mere prohibition. It declares that "no ceiling shall be established for any agricultural commodity below 110 per cent of the parity price." Inasmuch as most farm products are now well below parity price, the bill is a direct encouragement for every farm product to go not only 10 per cent but 100 per cent above. Such a provision, coupled with the wage clause, which says that "nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize the regulation of compensation of an employer to any of his employees," makes this a bill not to reduce the cost of living but to increase the cost of living.

HERE is an Administration which promulgates a law to keep prices down, but at the same time not only insists upon retaining intact many laws to keep prices up on wheat, coal, oil and various other commodities, but in the proposed new law actually declares that the price of wages and food shall not be held down but

New Orleans Gets Oil Shipment Set For Eastern Coast

Will Ship 3,000,000 Gallons
Of Gasoline To Eastern
Seaboard

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—The first shipment of gasoline to relieve the fuel shortage in the east was being made ready in New Orleans today.

More than 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline was being loaded on six barges, a tanker, a barge towboat and tug for shipment to Pittsburgh via the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

Robert E. Elliot, president of the New Orleans Petroleum Corporation, said today the gasoline shipment, which leaves Sunday, is the largest in New Orleans' history. He said plans call for eventual shipment of 7,000,000 gallons of gasoline monthly to the east.

"The fuel shortage in the east is not caused by lack of crude oil or lack of refining facilities," Elliot said. "It is caused by the lack of tankers which have been taken over by the federal government for defense purposes."

Meat Salesmen Act As Shepherds, Round Up Sheep Shipment

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Twenty meat salesmen admitted today that selling lamb was far more desirable than rounding it up.

A shipment of 250 lambs being driven off barges by professional shepherds broke away and roamed blitz-style through New York's traffic, tying it up in knots. A hurry call was sent for 20 salesmen from a nearby wholesale butchers and with the aid of police the roundup got under way. Amid much puffing on the part of the amateur shepherds and bleating by the scampering lambs, the straying animals were ultimately corralled. And the pursuers took time out for a rest.

Our program committee has arranged for a splendid program next Tuesday. We want every member out this day to honor King Lion Harding H. Thayer with a 100 percent attendance.

Let us co-operate with our attendance committee by being there. Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.

Flower Show Draws Crowds

Men's Garden Club Show Attended By Capacity Crowds On Friday

SHOW CONTINUES TO 9 O'CLOCK TONIGHT

Capacity crowds inspected the third annual Flower Show, sponsored by the Men's Garden club, in the Lawrence display rooms, South Mercer street, which was opened to the public after judging had been completed late Friday afternoon.

Hundreds of exhibits which had to be registered and classified the necessary to postpone the scheduled eleven o'clock judging for several hours. Judges for the show were William Thompson, superintendent of gardens at the Byers estate in Sewickley, Thomas Hosking, superintendent, of the Mrs. E. A. Woods' estate in Sewickley, and Christopher Kiefer, superintendent of the C. H. Beagle estate in Beaver Falls. Judging was according to nationally used scales.

Blue Ribbon Awards

More than one hundred blue ribbons were awarded, in addition to second, third, and honorable mention places. From the standpoint of number of exhibits this show is one of the most successful that has ever been seen in New Castle.

Attracting a great deal of attention were the special feature classes, where a chance for ingenuity and imagination of bloom, was allowed. Probably the one display which caused most comment was entered in the numerous division as a dog violet.

It was an arrangement of field violet leaves as foliage for a "hot dog" cut to imitate a flower, with a mustard-tipped toothpick and a pickled onion for stamen and pistil. Entered by John Robinson, the dog violet was awarded first place in its division.

Special Feature Winners . . . Winners of the other special feature classes were Harbor Junior Garden club, for junior club display of miniature gardens, with members of the North Beaver Junior club carrying off several prizes in the junior division; Miss Kay English, first in the division for children under fourteen years.

Winning the annual gold cup for the second successive year, the Men's Garden club won the garden display division. For the most attractive luncheon table display, the Oakwood Garden club was awarded a blue ribbon. Strong competition was given by the men's Garden club display of a luncheon table in the "Style of the Ozarks—Hill Billies to You", which proved to be a conglomeration of clipped plates, boiled potatoes and dirty silverware.

Fred Sontum, amassing fifty points on exhibits in various classes, won the "sweepstakes prize", with Ben Campbell running a close second.

Until nine o'clock this evening, the show will be open to the public, admittance free.

Men's Garden club committee in charge of the show is William C. Williams, chairman, E. C. Gatrall, A. Rodgers, Joe McMullen, J. W. Moorhead, and Charles G. Lindner.

Reveals Details Of Sub Capture By War Plane

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 13.—The dramatic story of how an American-built Lockheed-Hudson bomber of the Royal Air Force discovered, attacked and captured a German submarine was revealed today.

Squadron Leader J. H. Thompson came upon the submarine after a British warship had put a shot into its conning tower, forcing it to stay on the surface in heavy seas.

He said:
"A number of the U-boat's crew were in the conning tower when I made my first attack but they speedily ducked, only to meet other crew members who came from the hull to see what all the shooting was about."

"The result was that thirty or forty of them were jammed in the small conning tower."

"I continued to fire until they hoisted the white flag. Then I came down to within 50 feet and tried to figure out a way of bringing in the sub."

"The only thing I could figure out was that it would be impossible for me to do so, so I signalled for surface craft and aircraft to rush to the scene."

"After a wait during which I kept my guns trained on the U-boat, which was wallowing in the heaviest seas, a Catalina bomber arrived and I turned over the watch to it."

"I met another Hudson coming up and told the crew to keep away from our submarine."

"Finally several warships arrived and poured oil on the waters. The sub was taken in tow and the crew taken off in a dighy. Unfortunately, however, the crew had had time to damage vital machinery on the U-boat."

The submarine was taken on Sept. 8, it was said.

Nazi Airlines Are Eliminated

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Elimination of all but 70 miles of the 11,500 mile network of German-influenced airlines in the five west coast South American Republics was revealed today in the formulation of operating plans by Pan-American-Grace Airways under which all air transport within Ecuador now will be operated under the American flag.

A series of new airline schedules, which when approved by the civil aeronautics board in Washington, will replace all services formerly operated by the German subsidiary, Sedta, in Ecuador, was announced by Pan American-Grace Airways. The new plan stems from 10 months of route development by the Panagra system, dating from establishment of the first domestic service within the Republic of Ecuador to parallel routes controlled by the German Airline system.

As a result of the increase in operations of Panagra and the simultaneous decrease in service of the German lines, the government of Ecuador officially grounded the German Sedta line on Sept. 5. Under agreement with the Ecuadorian government, Pan American-Grace Airways will establish within the next 15 days additional local services which will connect the capital with principal cities within the republic.

Thus the German West Coast Airline network will be reduced to the single 70-mile link of the Trans-Andean service across the narrow strip of Chile from Santiago to the Argentine border, from where the route continues to Buenos Aires and to Brazil. The U. S. sponsored routes, meanwhile, in these five republics have increased in length from 5,000 to more than 15,000 miles in about two years.

Deny Reports Of Agreement With Japan

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Denial published reports that an agreement in principle has been reached between the United States and Japan on an understanding in the Pacific, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today said the exploratory talks with the Nippon Empire have not yet reached the point of determining whether negotiations are feasible.

Emphasizing that there is nothing new in the situation, Hull said the exploratory talks which are under way are based on the theory of ascertaining whether negotiations would be feasible. That point, he added, has not yet been reached.

Further doubt was cast on the possibility of any immediate negotiations with Japan for an agreement by the fact that Dr. Stanley Hornbeck, state department political adviser on Far Eastern affairs, has left on a two-week vacation.

Hornbeck has taken a leading part in the shaping of America's present policy toward Japan, and it is considered highly unlikely that he would leave Washington if negotiations were about to be started.

King George VI Tours Royal Armored Corps

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Under the protective wings of American-made planes and riding in an American-built scout car, a man named Windsor grinned and saluted through the alternating mist and sunshine. He was making a survey of the hardest hitting "panzer" force yet revealed to the world.

On the plains of Britain's eastern command his neighbors had drawn up for George Windsor of London a crack new "mailed fist" armored division. Its equipment, stretching as far as the eye could see along the horizon, revealed every department of this outfit superior to the conception of a typical panzer division given out by Nazi propaganda.

King Sees Troops
With surprising simplicity but with a tremendous amount of color, King George VI—tanned and flatter than ever in his bemuddled field marshal's uniform—showed a keen interest in this royal armored corps.

He took the salute and asked scores of questions as mile after mile of light tanks, heavy tanks, scout cars, armored cars, Bren gun carriers, anti-aircraft guns, artillery and anti-tank guns, supply vehicles and a completely mobile division of infantry rolled past.

It's quite an experience to join His Majesty in a review. There is no hedging because it's a royal trip. We hit the 70-mile trail to the parade ground in the royal caravan. Far ahead military motorcycle police cleared the lane and the big, ancient black and gold wheeled Daimler sedan flying the royal colors of His Majesty was easily visible.

Immediately ahead and behind rode operatives from Scotland Yard; then came station wagons with the general staff and other officials.

After transferring to the American scout car the King stood high in its rear compartment and toured the drawn up men and machines, snappily returning their salutes and nimbly investigating such giants as the Matilda tanks, fast Valentine tanks, anti-tank guns, and anti-aircraft guns.

He was always cheerful and always careful to maintain equal military bearing before the thousands of surrounding officers and men. He also took care to shake hands with the responsible officers of each unit and give them a few words of praise.

He certainly can take it. While we all took a breather and sprawled out for lunch the King stood on the reviewing stand, never missing a single accident.

"What's the speed of that tank model?" he would ask.

"What is the fire power of that gun? How long have those men been in service training? Are any of them veterans of Dunkirk?"

"Those American planes are nice looking machines," he remarked later as the planes swept overhead.

Then the King called a simple "Thank you" to the troops as thousands of voices cheered.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Trial of 16 alleged Nazi spies, accused of sending American defense secrets to Germany, was in recess today following testimony that German operatives in this country were directed to obtain information on the movements of merchant and war ships as well as production rates at aircraft and rubber factories.

According to the evidence, details about the U. S. aircraft carrier Saratoga, the French liner Normandie, and the Curlew-Wright, Fairchild, Allison and Grumman aircraft plants were sought by espionage.

U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy introduced 75 messages exchanged between the outlaw German gestapo radio station AOR, near Hamburg, and a short wave transmitter operated in Centerville, L. I., by FBI agents posing as accomplices of the spy ring's directors in Germany.

The station was erected by the P. B. I. on orders received from Germany by William G. Sebald, becoming a spy while on a trip to Germany three years ago. Sebald, who testified at the trial earlier, and two agents sent to Germany a mass of useless spy information and received in return $13,925 through the ring's operatives in the United States. Through use of the radio, the government gathered information on 33 alleged members of the ring, 17 of whom have entered guilty pleas.

Among information desired by the Nazis was of weather conditions here, presumably so as to gauge weather about the British Isles in the event they decided to make an invasion attempt.

Legion Ready For Convention

National Convention Will Open In Milwaukee On Monday

(International News Service)
MILWAUKEE, Sept. 13.—A record number of 530 proposed resolutions was sifted today by committees preparing for the American Legion's National Convention, which will open in Milwaukee Monday.

Most of the controversial resolutions were referred to the committee on foreign relations. There were a number bearing on freedom of the seas, some approving and others condemning aid to Soviet Russia, and proposals for and against repeal of the neutrality law.

The national defense committee considered resolutions against sending armies of the United States outside the Western Hemisphere, and the Americanism committee handled a stack of resolutions condemning Communism, Fascism, and subversive activities.

City Is Jammed
The city was already jammed with thousands of Legionnaires from all corners of the country, and thousands more were en route to the city. It was estimated that Illinois alone would send 20,000 delegates to the convention.

Warren H. Atherton, of Stockton, Cal., the Legion's defense committee chairman who has just returned from a survey of the defense situation in Washington, will make a special report in connection with charges that the defense program has bogged down or is being impeded by inefficiency and red tape.

Among the distinguished guests at the convention will be Secretary of State Hull, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the army air corps, Col. Rex Benson, military attaché of the British embassy in Washington, and FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

Knox To Speak
Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox will be the chief speaker on Monday, and will read a message from President Roosevelt.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army, is also scheduled for an appearance at the convention, which will address the national commanders' banquet Monday night.

Gen. John J. Pershing, chief of the American Expeditionary Force in the first world war, was invited to be the convention's guest of honor, but declined because of the state of his health.

General Pershing is 81 years old today. National Commander Milo J. Warner, on behalf of the Legion's 1,100,000 members, sent the veteran military leader a telegram of congratulations which said in part:

"We always have recognized you as our true leader and ever shall cherish your ability and understanding. On behalf of every Legionnaire, it is my privilege to salute you. Sir on the occasion of your birthday as we convene the 23rd annual convention of the American Legion."

The special board recommended removal of the officers under special legislation enacted by the present Congress designed to improve the efficiency of the regular army commands.

It was the first action taken by the war department under the legislation.

The war department revealed that 133 officers were notified of the special board's recommendations; 37 have not been notified or their cases are being "processed"; 66 have requested voluntary retirement; nine requested action by physical retirement boards; 51 have not yet replied to notices, and seven "indicated a desire to appear before a board of special officers."

New Castle High Registers Second Win Of Season On Friday Night; Lee, Stewart, Parou, Doster Tally Touchdowns In Lopsided Encounter; Butler Team Inexperienced; Scarazzo Plays Fine Line Game; Crowd Is Over 8,000.

Displaying a marked improvement in every department of play, a fast-charging and hard-running New Castle High football team defeated Butler High last night at Taggart Stadium 25 to 0 before a crowd over the four times New Castle men crossed the Butler goal line on thrilling plays. New Castle used quite a bit of deception last night. Lee's passing left nothing to be desired. The kicking was much improved.

It took New Castle almost a whole first period to get warmed up, and the first touchdown was set up near the end of the first quarter when Parou recovered a Butler fumble on the New Castle 37-yard line, one of the few times when Butler could get their offense to click.

Parou Scores On Pass
Starting with a minute or so left in the first period, Lee picked up four yards. He then passed to Zubkowsky, but it was knocked down. Lee then passed to Peter for a first down on the New Castle 48-yard line. Doster failed at the line. Lee then rifled another pass that Parou caught and it was a first down on the Butler 39-yard mark. Stewart failed at the center of the line as the first period closed. New Castle had the ball on the Butler 39-yard line.

At the start of the second period

Shenango Repels Evans City High

Reese Thomas' 40-Yard Touchdown Dash Nets Locals 6-0 Triumph

GAME PLAYED HERE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Shenango Township high's victory banner sailed proudly in the air Friday afternoon following a well earned 6-0 football victory over Evans City high.

The 1941 curtain hoister, played on Shenango field, lured more than 500 spectators. The gallery was rewarded with a thrill-stuffed exhibition.

Visitors Threatened
The visiting aggregation knocked at the touchdown door in the opening quarter, penetrating deep into fertile territory. Shenango's stalwart front trench, however, thwarted the advance on the 20. Stoltica completed the stand by lifting a beautiful punt that took the pressure off the fans as well as the East New Castle club.

The local gridsters muffed a scoring opportunity in the second chucker. After snatching a fumble, Shenango's ball-toting division got as far as the opponents' 20. There Evans City hung out the "No Throughfare" sign.

Shenango played for a break in the third stanza and was ready when it came. Midway in the chapter Richardson, Evans City right half, wheeled back to unfurl an aerial bomb. Shenango's line darted through like lightning. Richardson hurried the toss.

Shenango Scores
Reese Thomas, Shenango right guard, basked the pigskin and got on his high horse. He sped 40 yards into the pay booth. Shenango's line plucked for the extra point failed. The schoolboys played on even terms until the "signoff".

The Nocera-coached machine played exceedingly well for an opener. Shenango's spearheaded by Pruitt, Walters and Thomas, wouldn't budge an inch. In the backfield, Moran, Stoltica and Moran drew the plaudits of the gallery. Semansky's booting left little to be desired. Donaldson, Sawyer and Purvis were Evans City's best bets.

Next Saturday night, Shenango faces one of its major tests of the season, facing Sharpville at Sharpville.

First Touchdown

From the 11-yard line Bobby Lee faked back and shot a perfect pass that Tommy Parou the right-end caught and he was over the goal-line for the first touchdown, amid the thunderous applause of the big crowd. Stewart's attempt for the conversion hit the cross bar and it was New Castle 6, Butler 0.

New Castle threatened later in the second period, having the ball as far as the Butler 3-yard line, but a penalty and pass interception by Milson of the Butler team broke up the scoring threat.

Lee Races For Touchdown

New Castle got touchdown number two in the early minutes of the third period. Butler failed to gain much ground and Phillips punted to New Castle on the Butler 47-yard line.

Lee, on the first New Castle play of the third period picked up nine yards, but New Castle was off-side and drew a five-yard penalty. Stewart made it a first down on the Butler 35-yard mark on a honey of a thrust at the line. Lee tried a pass to Parou, but it was grounded. Lee at this period faked a reverse to Stewart and sped through tackle and was in the clear, racing 33 yards for the second touchdown with no Butler player close to him. Stewart tried the extra-point and again the ball hit the cross-bar. New Castle 12, Butler 0.

Stewart Goes Over

New Castle got touchdown number three when the Butler team went to sleep or something, because instead of punting on their own 25-yard line they elected to try for yardage and New Castle was given the ball on downs, after two Butler passes had failed.

Lee to Zubkowsky to Stewart on a triple-lateral was good for a first down on the Butler 11-yard line. Stewart knifed his way through for 9½ yards to the Butler one-yard line and then on the next play hit the center of the line and was over. The try by Stewart this time for an extra point was good and New Castle had 19 points to 0 for Butler.

At this point Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh started to send in his subs. Nickum replaced Doster who had played a hard game for the first three periods.

New Castle's final touchdown came mid-way in the fourth period when Beynon, a line sub, blocked a Butler punt and Parou recovered for New Castle on the Butler 46-yard line.

Doster Gets No. 4
Nickum picked up seven yards. Lee was injured and Doster was sent in. Doster picked up two yards. Stewart made it first down on the Butler 35-yard line. Doster made a couple of yards, then Stewart made another first down on the Butler 16 for an 18-yard gain.

Nickum tried a "statue of liberty" to Doster but it didn't click. Stewart was stopped at center. Nickum then faked back and shot a perfect pass to Doster who raced over for the final touchdown. Stewart again missed the extra point, making it New Castle 25, Butler 0.

The remainder of the game found Bridenbaugh sending in all of his second team, and Butler also doing a lot of substituting. It was Butler's first game and they did not look bad, but Coach Henzer has an inexperienced team this year and it will take time to develop.

Well Balanced Team

New Castle lineup last night was a well-balanced eleven with Lee doing, as said before, a nice job of passing and kicking, and Bobby Stewart, the fullback, playing a swell game. He was good for yardage just about every time that he

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Those looking for bass nowadays should play the deeper holes. Artificial lures must travel deeper, while the bait fishermen will discover that large, lively minnows bring best results, according to the Pennsylvania Angler, which also reports that a pork rind lure is excellent for bass when used with a fly rod. Such a lure is also made for a casting rod. Jet black lures are perfectly seen by fish during the darkest hours of night.

It is seldom that fish protectors here make a public report of the apprehension of fish law violators. Possibly violations are few. However, in Washington county this year an alleged seiner was taken into custody, convicted, and fined $100 by a Burgettstown Burgess.

Fistic highways are difficult to traverse. The way is hard because it is pitted with depressions. However, some of the colorful figures of yesteryear who had to bow out of the spotlight for awhile are now back in the glare. For instance, take Johnny Kilbane, who it may be recalled, got his pugilistic baptism here. Following a reign of 11 years as featherweight champion he dropped out of the limelight but came back not so long ago and is now a state senator in Ohio. Ray Alvis basked in the realms of publicity while he managed Tony Herrera and other fistic knights then apparently went into oblivion. He has "bopped" to the fore again and at present is the promoter of boxing in Washington's Griffith stadium where such well known as Buddy Baer, the champion heavyweight, Louis Jevo Archibald and the new featherweight champ, Chalky Wright have appeared. Jimmy Dunn who managed Kilbane, Carl Treman, Bryan Downey and a bevy of other stars, is making a determined bid for new recognition with Jimmie Wilson, the Cleveland colored lad now fighting in California.

There is sadness among basketball fans of Sharon today—caused by the death of "Pop" Dickerson, former Sharon High coach who during his regime at the school earned the reputation as the "maker of champions." He died Thursday night following a brief illness of pneumonia. "Pop" Dickerson was a man whose basketball-teaching ability was admired by followers and foes. During the 10-year period from 1920 to 1930 his squads won 19 different championships; he put three teams in the finals of the state tournament in four years, and his 1930 combination won the coveted championship of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association. It was the only quintet from northwestern Pennsylvania ever to capture the P. I. A. A. crown.

Due to the outbreak of infantile paralysis, which has claimed more than 20 lives in Pennsylvania during the past month, a score of colleges and upwards of 400 high schools in the state have cancelled early season football games, a survey disclosed today. The colleges affected by cancellations include Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, Albright, Lehigh university, Dickinson, Muhlenberg and Pennsylvania's 14 teachers' colleges. The state department of health ordered the latter to discontinue gridiron practice until September 22.

Because of a football game last night in Ellwood City there was no game between Ellwood City and Hillsville at Ellwood City. Had Hillsville won they would have clinched the second half flag and played Ellwood City in a series for the Lawrence County Baseball league title. However, Ellwood City told Hillsville to claim the game by forfeit. Hillsville does not want to do this and it is likely that President Alec Samuels will order the game played. There has been many postponements of the final game in the second half and it is likely that Samuels will lose no time issuing an order alleviating the situation.

One of the biggest crowds in Pittsburgh boxing history will see the Four-Star docket Monday night. Fritz Zivic fights Milt Aron; Harry Bobo battles Willie Poland; Pete Scalzo takes on Mike Raffa and Mose Brown tangles with Jimmy Webb. The Dapper Dan club and Rooney & McGinley are promoting the show.

Martin Hanover took the 2:24 trot and Watson E. Direct won the 2:17 pace at Waynesburg, Friday. They won in straight heat. The best time was 2:15 1-4 in the trot and 2:12 1-4 in the pace.

Mrs. Betty Hicks Newell, of Long Beach, Cal., and Helen Sigel, of Philadelphia, advances to the final round of the National Woman's Golf championship at Brookline.

Bobby Riggs is "man of the week in sports" by virtue of his triumph in the national singles tennis championships. Lloyd Magrum, Monterey, Cal., tops field at the end of first round in the $5,000 Atlantic City open golf championship.

Ill with a skin infection, Tony Zale, N. B. A. middleweight champion, remains confident he can beat George Abrams in their title bout re-scheduled for November 28.

Series Battles Carded Sunday

Lawrence Indies Will Play At West Pittsburg; Elders And Moose To Tangle

The second games of the Shaughnessy championship in the City Baseball league will be played on Sunday, with both games starting at 3 o'clock. (weather permitting).

The Lawrence Indies will journey to West Pittsburg to battle the "Gas House" gang. The West Pittsburg boys are one up on the Indies, having administered a wallop to the Cedar Street team last Sunday 11 to 2.

Dombeck Will Hurl
Manager Danny DeGenova has elected Joe "Screech" Dombeck the big Wampum star hurler as his mound choice and it was understood that Manager Russu at a late hour today was undecided who he would start. The Indies must win tomorrow to stay in the running for the championship, as it is the best out of three series.

In the event of good weather a packed West Pittsburg field will no doubt greet both teams when they take the field. The West Pittsburg team to a man today declared that they are confident of entering the finals against the winners of the Elders-Moose series.

Elders vs Moose
Marshall Field off of Croton avenue, on the site of the old county club grounds, will be the mecca of the New Castle East Side fans for the second game between the Elders and Moose. The Moose hope to win Sunday and enter the finals.

Manager Joe O'Leary will more than likely start Dory Gunden on the knoll. Manager Ronenbaugh will use either Frigone or Rainey. The Elders will be fighting with their backs to the wall. They need a victory tomorrow to stay in the running.

Both will be crackjack ball games and well worth seeing.

City-County Loop Playoff To Start Sunday Afternoon

Dewey A. C.-Clifton Flats And Bush A. C.-Croton A. C. Meet In Twin Bills

Determined to annex the second half of the City-County Independent Baseball league, Dewey A. C., Clifton Flats, Bush A. C. and Croton A. C. anxiously await the start of the playoff series Sunday afternoon.

To eliminate the customary drawn out affair, Carm DeLone, president, has arranged a pair of double headers for tomorrow.

At Lee avenue field, the Bush A. C. and Croton A. C. clash at 2 o'clock.

On Clifton Flats field, the Dewey A. C. and Clifton Flats swap blows. The bargain bill starts at 2 o'clock.

Winner of each best out of three game series will meet for the second half ribbon, President DeLone said. With any kind of a break from the guy who handles the weather department, several hundred fans are expected to huddle for the "crucial" battles.

Sportsmen Meet Tuesday Evening

Members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will hold their first meeting of the autumn season on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Veterans of Foreign War hall, East Washington street, H. N. Drio, secretary, announced today.

DELONE SELECTS 'UMPS' FOR GAMES

Carm DeLone, president of the City-County Independent Baseball league, today named umpires for the second half championship playoff starting Sunday afternoon.

OUTSTANDING DADDY!

NEW YORK — "Red" Ormsby, who has a dozen Ormsbys has been named as the outstanding father in baseball for 1941 by the national Fathers Day committee. He's a major league umpire.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports notes that popped up while watching the New Castle-Butler game.

Almost forgot to mention about a sports communique from Chicago Illinois, informing us that George Bender, middle initial A, of 218 East Garfield avenue, has been appointed local National Dog Week chairman, September 21 to 27. The item is news, true, but can't figure out how the sender places it in the category of sports.

New Castle high's appearance is always good for a line or two. The "Hurricane" gridsters look like a colony of football Beau Brummels gathered for their annual convention. When it comes to the sartorial end of the game, New Castle in one, two, three with any high school in the land and a lot of the colleges too.

Just remembered that Princeton high has been admitted to the Class B WPIAL division. Which means that Section 20 will be an eight team basketball loop this season. By the 1942 pigskin campaign, the Princetonians may take a fling at football. Lack of material, however, is the big problem.

When the guys who pick the most valuable players in the major leagues convene, hope they forget this guy Dolf Camilli of "dem bums." He clubbed in more than 100 runs and plastered 33 apples in home run street, the last time we looked. He's pushing Brooklyn up there with that stick, if we may toss in an opinion.

A guy who looks like Teddy Yarzoz reminded us that the ex-Middleweight champion dropped his first political battle. Teddy ran on the Democratic ticket Tuesday. He lost the nomination for tax collector.

Recall reading an Ohio journal which reports that Columbus is selling Ohio State shorts. This guy Brown will show them something before it's all over, watch and see.

This guy Lou Nova who crawls into the ring with Louis soon, must have a little "Dizzy Dean" in him. Hugh Fullerton, Jr., a scribe says he knows a guy who knew Lou when he was going to school. Nova according to Hugh's friend, used to carry his arm in a sling to rest it so that he could toss the javelin farther when Saturday rolled around.

"Red" Kuffing will pitch the opening game for the New York Yankees, that's our guess. "Red" by the way, is an old head in the classics. He has won 5 and lost 1 hasn't he? Money won't buy everything. Look at poor Tom Yawkey, of the Boston Red Sox. He bought the bean eater in 1933 and has already shelled out $5,000-000. Still no pennant.

In between halves, slipped under the stands for a drink pop and overheard a couple discussing various phases of the game. The gent was telling the missus that the team in possession tries to make 10 yards. To which the missus replied—"Make 10 yards of what? That's where we came in."

Cardinals Top Dodgers 4 To 3

St. Louis And Brooklyn In Crucial Game Today, Both Fighting For Pennant

By JACK MAHON
International News Service Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who have climbed off the floor more often than a Flat-bush dance hall bouncer all summer, play their most important game of the year with the fighting St. Louis Cardinals here today, and if they lose it—they'll probably lose the pennant. This is no wild prophecy. The guns of the million-dollar babies of the million-dollar pennant, the Brooklyn Dodgers, have been silent in the pinch too often in this drive through the West, and if the boys can't hit with men on the bases—we're afraid the Dodgers are doomed.

That's the situation today as Pitcher Whit Wyatt and the heroes of the Gowanow march against Lefty Morton Cooper and his mates in the grand finale of a three-game series which has had the hearts of all America hiccupping for the past 72 hours.

Crucial Battle Today

If Brooklyn's bombers prove duds again today and the Cards win the rubber game, St. Louis will climb back into first place in the race, two percentage points ahead of Brooklyn and faced with three week-end games with the pitifully weak New York Giants. The Dodgers tomorrow will inaugurate a very similar series with the infinitely stronger Cincinnati Reds.

At least a half dozen times this year Brooklyn has failed to win a key game of an important series and survived. They can't do anything today and sacrifice the three-game lead with which they headed West only last Monday, it will be hard to see how they can expect to climb off the canvas once more.

That's the problem they face this afternoon and from here in—and under such conditions morale becomes more than a high-sounding word out of the book Noah Webster made famous. And, we're sorry to report, the Dodgers' morale is not too high at this moment.

Here's why. Yesterday, when the Cards came from behind to even the series with a 4 to 3 win, Brooklyn left nine men on base, five of them in scoring position—and Joe Medwick, their $125,000 pennant insurance policy, and the highest salaried player on the club—failed them twice.

The American League's champion Yankees, who will face either the Dodgers or Cards in the world series, blasted Detroit, 8-2, with Joe Dimaggio's three hits setting the pace, but otherwise they have their worry. Their Mr. Charley Keller's lame right ankle was diagnosed as a broken bone, and it was disclosed the Yankees probably will enter the series minus the mighty King Kong, who, meantime, faces the likelihood of losing out in the league's private battle for runs-driven-in and homer honors.

In other American duels, Joe Dobson twisted Boston to a 5-0 victory over St. Louis, enabling the Red Sox to maintain their position as runners-up despite Chicago's 2-0 triumph that John Humphries chalked up against Philadelphia. Early Wynn, Washington's rookie, tossed a 7-4 verdict against Cleveland.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati continued their rivalry for third place in the National League, the Reds tripping New York, 8 to 4, and thereby gaining a notch when the Pirates split a doubleheader with Boston. Pittsburgh won the opener, 6 to 3, then Al Javery hurled the Braves to a 5-0 victory.

The lowly Philadelphia Phillies arose to clout Chicago's Cubs, 5 to 3.

Ellwood High Wins Opening Game From Union High 26-6

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 13.—Ellwood City high school gridirons lifted the lid on their 1941 gridiron schedule Friday night at Lincoln field and romped away with a 26-6 victory over their plucky opponents, Union Township high school.

A large crowd of more than 4,000 spectators witnessed the contest, with the weatherman co-operating with a perfect evening favoring the disciples of the pigskin who turned out en masse to watch the Lawrence county teams perform for the first time this year. The permanent lighting system proved to be excellent.

Displaying potential strength, Ellwood's team, while inexperienced, gives promise of developing into a powerful, fast clicking machine that will provide plenty of opposition for their future rivals. The lads from Union Township were plenty tough and showed fight to the last minute and will, undoubtedly, go far up the victory ladder with teams of their class.

From first appearances, Ellwood's line is going to be a strong fortress and fans were pleased to watch Lardo, a back converted to center, come through. Backfield is developing and the sophomore recruits, and in Moskal, they presented one of the best passers that has been seen in Ellwood in a number of years.

Union Score First

The Susko machine scored first, early in the opening quarter, and gave the Wolverines quite a scare. Their touchdown drive began when a pass from Conti to Dougerty for 48 yds. Dougerty and F. Kline picked up yardage through the line, Jaskolska, mainstay of the visiting team, shot an 18 yard pass to Presto, H. Dougerty added 8 more from the tricky Statue of Liberty pick and a few minutes later Jaskolska sent another long accurate 25 yard shot to Presto. Dougerty, which was shot for six points. P. Dougerty's line buck for the extra point failed.

Showing the stuff from which real players are made, Ellwood came right back to score their first touchdown. Hitting Union's line, Presto Conti, Moskal and Hughes, took the p. m., worship 8 p. m., Rev. C. L. Alexander.

Defense Stamps Sales Campaign

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 13.—All local merchants will join in the National Retail Defense Savings Stamp sale which is to take place throughout the United States starting Monday and continuing throughout the week.

Howard Jones, president of the local merchants' division, stated today that all merchants will carry a supply of 10, 25 and 50-cent stamps. Instead of asking for your 10 or 25-cent change next week be sure and say to the clerk—Give me my change in defense savings stamps.

Merchants will be given with the purchase of your first stamp and when you have filled it with 75 of the 25c stamps, it will buy a bond worth $25.00 in 10 years.

All local citizens are urged to co-operate with the national defense program by purchasing stamps at the local stores this week.

Special added feature to the Flower Show tonight will be the popular New Castle Concert Band under the direction of George Moore . . . the show you know is being held in the Lawrence Auto Company's Garage on South Mercer street. Flowers from all parts of town and county are on display and really worth while seeing . . . shop open tonight . . . so you still have time for a good time.

Regardless of what some people might want you to think, this is still the best country in the world. Where else could a boy buy up some old type and an old printing press and print his own little neighborhood newspaper. Say anything he likes about the government and the people that run it . . . which means he can talk about anyone. A boy can start at the bottom of industry and work up to the head man . . . where else can this be done? We must all keep our heads and think clearly. We owe it to the generations that are to come.

Here we have a few dogs that would like to have good homes: Call 2639-R . . . Collie pup, female about 3 months old. Ideal for a farm home.

Phone 8098-J . . . Pure bred Eskimo Spitz, pure white about 5 years old.

Mrs. Ruth Hickey, Savannah Road . . . 2 puppies, one male, one female, about 5 months old.

3706-R . . . Black cocker spaniel, male, about 1 year old. Reinhard, right past Hart's Marble Works on the Pulaski Road, just a 5 minute walk from the city bus stop . . . 4 nice puppies about 2 months old. Give them a good home and they are yours.

917 Ryan avenue, Phone 2297-M . . . Fox terrier, 6 months old, and time for children.

It will soon be getting around to that time when a walk in the woods would be just the thing . . . fall weather the crisp wind and the soft smells of leaves turning color . . . corn cutting and pumpkin pie . . . all mixed together, it sure is fun to be living. The little simple things in life make it worth while.

And tomorrow is Sunday . . . don't forget a church service. And then if you go out on the open highway, don't forget to drive carefully . . . we want you to come home healthy and happy. Now have a good time.

New Mystery In Death Of Dancer

Anonymous Telephone Calls Add To Mystery In Girl's Death

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Mystery surrounding the strange death of Mary Barton, 20-year-old dancer, deepened today with revelation of a second anonymous telephone call received by one of the dead girl's night club associates.
The body of the dancer, who apparently died last Monday in her apartment, was found Thursday after an unknown man phoned the superintendent repeatedly to "close Miss Barton's window." An autopsy revealed she died of an overdose of sleeping pills.
Sonya Yarr, mistress of ceremonies at the night club where Miss Barton had danced, reported today that a few hours after the body was found an anonymous woman caller phoned her and asked if she knew the dancer. When Sonya replied that she did but had not seen Miss Barton for several days, the caller said she was dead and that "she took something."
The caller hung up, refusing to identify herself, despite the fact she possessed Sonya's privately listed number.
Miss Yarr recalled that Miss Barton had been acting strangely during the three days she worked at the club. She added that the dancer seemed nervous and almost fell during her routine last Saturday night. The following day, she said, Miss Barton seemed very sleepy.
"I think she took some sort of pills. I do know she wasn't very happy," Miss Yarr said.
Police reported that Miss Barton's father, identified as Joann Coit, of Brentwood, Calif., was coming to New York. Further mystery was added to the case when W. L. Grunhofer, of the Bronx, told reporters he was the girl's father.

Air Force Ready For Maneuvers

Commanding General Says Fliers Ready For Big Trials In South

PRECAUTIONS FOR SAFETY ARE TAKEN

By WILLIAM G. GAUDET
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 13.—Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commanding general of the entire United States air force combat command, today unreservedly declared that the air force is ready to take to the skies in support of the giant Third Army vs. Second Army maneuvers which begin Sept. 15.
The general, discussing the air picture after a tour of the 30,000 square mile maneuver area, said he found the pilots, the personnel and planes ready for the big test which will come when Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger's Third Army meets the Second Army under the command of Lieut. Gen. Ben C. Lear.
"I found everything fine," cryptically, the general said. "Even as the general was speaking, the first of some 40 navy dive bombers roared in circles above the field, ready at a command to come in for a landing. The field was short and consisted of a lone gravel runway."
The order from the control tower was flashed and one after another the ships roared in without mishap. Then it was that the general was asked specifically concerning air accidents in connection with the maneuvers. He answered frankly: "We'll have some, probably, but these are to be expected. After all, the air force will be operating under combat conditions. There will be no bullets, no bombs, but we will be carrying out the same missions as if we were in actual combat."
Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Dargue, commanding general of the air task force which has been assigned as the air support for General Krueger's army, echoed the opinions of General Emmons and added: "Yes, we'll probably have a few accidents but I believe the law of averages will take care of the number we have."
Too Much Accident Emphasis
The general then explained that too much emphasis is placed on air accidents without consideration of all the facts, and statistics that in the end tell a very different story. Specifically, General Dargue pointed out that in 1921 there was one fatality for every 1,000 hours flown; in 1940 this has dropped to one fatality for every 10,000 hours. Accidents were one in every 214 hours in 1921 and dropped to one in every 1941 hours during the year 1940. These figures mean, General Dargue said, that while accidents have increased one-third, air travel has increased 12 times.
Nevertheless, for the big maneuvers, in which the greatest array of military aircraft ever assembled in this country will take to the skies, certain precautions have been taken.

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN

1. Pursuit ships (the army and navy will have the very fastest in America) will have to pull out at safe distances when simulating attacks on opposition bombers. The distances will vary according to the number in a formation but under no circumstances can a pursuit ship come closer than 700 feet.
2. Dive bombers will not be permitted to go lower than 1,000 feet before the pullout.
3. Fighters will not be permitted more than one simulated pass at a big bomber.
Despite these precautions, the air force has some problems that only good flying and the "law of averages" can work out. These include:
1. Congested air traffic. The two armies will have more than 1,000 planes, including army and navy bombers, pursuit ships and the dive bombers.
2. Formation flying.
3. Airports. Some of the ports are good but others consist only of gravel runways.
4. Weather conditions.
Undoubtedly, General Dargue conceded the air force will come out of the maneuvers with some scars but will be the better for them. As for the young officers who fly the ships, their concern is only to carry out the missions given them. One lieutenant, pilot of an A-20-A—one of the fastest and most powerful fighter planes in the world—put it this way:
"It's not for us to worry about the airports, and the weather. Ours is to get a mission and do it. We're ready for our orders."

The Ritz-Carlton now belongs to Harvard. The Carlton part is something new.
All a little country can hope for is that it will prefer the big belligerent that gets to it first.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

The executive committee of Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association has arranged to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of Extension Service in Lawrence County, in the form of a banquet. The banquet will be held Thursday, September 18 at 7:00 p. m. in the Epworth Methodist church.

The program following the banquet will include talks by former extension workers of the county addressed by M. S. McDowell, director of Agricultural Extension Service in Pennsylvania, and Miss Margaret Brown, retiring director of home economics extension work.

A historical pageant showing the changes in agriculture and rural living during the past quarter of a century will be one of the interesting features of the program.

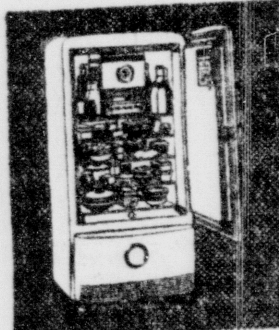

Tickets for the banquet may be obtained from members of the executive committee, local leaders throughout the county, or from the office of the Extension Association.

Beef Cattle Feeding Changes

Within the past few years there has been a trend away from the older and heavier feeding steers to calves and lighter feeder cattle. Another change, too, is the higher degree of finish put on these cattle along with a higher grade of steer being fed.

The feeds available as well as amounts and kinds will often determine the grade of feeder cattle chosen by the prospective feeder. If the feed available is a low grade of roughage such as silage, hay, and fodder, he will feed a lower grade—feeder steer, since this larger steer will eat more of the roughage feed and be ready for the market sooner. The lower grade steer, however, will not carry the degree of finish necessary when a higher grade steer is fed. The farmer with more grain available, prefers a lighter grade with higher grade, and feeds a heavier grain ration, than will the other and he will have a higher finished steer for the market.

PREPARE EWE FLOCK IN FALL FOR 1942 INCOME.

Begin this fall to prepare the farm ewe flock for 1942. From the standpoint of future profits, fall is an important period for any farmer keeping even only a few ewes.

First consideration should be given to kind of ewes kept over winter. All light-shearing, undersized, broken-mouthed and barren ewes should be culled from the flock. The percentage of lambs dropped in the spring depends largely upon the condition of the ewes in the fall and the extent of the culling operation.

COW DUE TO FRESHEN SHOULD BE WELL FED.

Cows due to freshen during the fall months should be well fed if maximum production and greatest profit during the winter months is desired.

Such cows should be dried off six to eight weeks before freshening time and it at all thin they should have full rations until a short time before the calf is due. If pasture is short there should be supplemental feeding of hay, silage, or some green crop.

In addition the cows should be given sufficient grain to get them into good condition. A good fitting ration is a mixture of 100 pounds of corn meal, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran and 75 pounds of oil meal. If good legume hay is used or if pasture is abundant the oil meal may be reduced in amount.

Reduce the amount of grain gradually for about ten days before freshening and the last two or three days feed no grain except bran or a mixture of bran and whole oats. After freshening the fitting ration may be fed increasing the amount gradually depending upon the condition of the cow's udder. At the end of ten days to two weeks change gradually to the regular milking ration and have the cow on full feed at three to four weeks after freshening.

Cows freshening in good condition and well fed during the lactation period will give enough extra milk to pay double price for all extra feed used to get them ready for work. A full ration at this time helps to get a full milk yield later.

MORE DAMAGE FROM PEACH BORER EXPECTED.

More peach tree borers are in prospect for many orchardists this fall.

The adult moths that deposit eggs from which borers attack peach trees and other stone-fruit trees have been noticed in somewhat large numbers this year, particularly in the southeastern counties. Most of these eggs will have been laid by the middle of September. The borers that hatch from these eggs enter the tree trunk near the ground level.

When the borers first hatch is the easiest time to kill them. September 10 to September 25 is ordinarily the best period in the areas where low temperatures occur early September 15 to October 1 is the best period in the areas where soil temperatures are higher for a longer period.

Paradichlorobenzene crystals having the fineness of granulated sugar are suggested as a control practice. This material is effective according to the soil temperature which volatilizes the crystals. After the soil temperatures have become low volatilization is either very slow or much less difference than before in the foods eaten in different parts of the country, or from season to season.

From the nutritional standpoint one of the most encouraging trends over the past 50 years is the sharp increase in the amount of milk, potatoes, citrus fruits, and leafy green vegetables that we eat.

These are all included on the "protective" list of foods, she points out. That is, they are foods noted for mineral elements and vitamins in which diets are likely to fall short.

On the debit side of the nutritional ledger are some of our developed food preferences.

A modern standard fastidiousness has led many of us to the neglect of the organs of the animals.

Some food-processing practices, such as a high degree of milling of wheat, refining of cane sugar, and bleaching of vegetables have stripped natural products of certain nutritive qualities. Because we have come to association with these foods, we often eat these foods to the exclusion of others.

As a result, unwise food choices tend to offset the benefit of the increased use of protective foods, and diets as they stand today often are short in calcium, and in vitamins A, B, and C.

Generally, food habits are reshaped on the individual or family basis, says Mrs. Taylor. To change these habits "the hand that sets the table" is the hand that yields the influence.

In many cases the family diet could be improved simply by using more milk, and by including more of the leafy and green colored vegetables. Likewise, economical choices can be made in practically all of the important food groups. It is up to the homemaker interested in her family's health to find out what these choices are. By keeping up-to-date on food values and nutrition, by good management, and by good cooking she can provide the very best meals.

Women Workers On Farms Increasing

Pennsylvania Women Doff Aprons To Put On Overalls As Male Labor Shrinks

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Pennsylvania's farms are going feminine as members of the "weaker sex" take off their aprons and don overalls to stop an aggravated shortage of farm workers.

The State Agriculture Department, announcing a shortage of 18,000 farm hands, reported that women are casting aside their household chores to join their husbands in the fields to finish the harvest. But in many cases women are seeking work on other farms to ease a growing dearth of workers.

"There has been a decided increase of women farm workers," the department announced. "Many of them are going into the fields, harvesting crops and even driving tractors. Women are just about as good as men at picking fruits and vegetables."

"With large numbers of farm laborers, as well as students and migrant workers who formerly were available for harvest work, attracted to defense industries, the agricultural labor situation is critical."

Department officials pointed to a federal-state survey of 8000 farms in Pennsylvania showing a need for 18,000 workers for the harvest.
